

Cornelis Hulsmann, ed.

The Sharia as the Main Source of Legislation?

The Egyptian Debate on Article II of the Egyptian Constitution

As Egypt enters a new phase of transition with its first Islamist government, Christians and non-Islamist Muslims have become fearful of the implications of an Islamist government for the rule of law. Their major concern is the push for implementation of Islamic law through Article II of the Constitution. In Western countries this Article has caused an outcry against Islamists from those harboring little desire for dialogue and understanding.

This book, wants to spark a more fruitful exchange by offering an unprecedented look into this debate among Muslims and Christians in Egypt. Providing statistical analysis, interviews, as well as contributions by many Egyptian officials it facilitates readers to develop an informed position on this matter.

Tectum Verlag,
170 pages, Paperback
24,90 € / 30,90 sFr.
ISBN 978-3-8288-3067-7
Anwendungsorientierte
Religionswissenschaft 3
ISSN 2194-8941

Cornelis Hulsmann has an MA in Development Sociology, Leiden University (1984). Held leading functions in Dutch emigration service, 1986–1994. Living in Egypt since 1994. With his Egyptian wife Sawsan Gabra Ayoub Khalil founder of Arab-West Report and the Center for Intercultural Dialogue and Translation. Author of several investigative reports on Muslim-Christian tensions in Egypt.

Order now to be entitled to the subscription price of 15 € until 31st October 2012 (from 1st November on the regular price is 24,90 €).

Ordering form

I order hereby _____ copies for the subscription price of 15 € (excluding postal costs) of the following title:

Cornelis Hulsmann, ed.
The Sharia as the Main Source of Legislation
ISBN 978-3-8288-3067-7

ship to

Full Name

Street and Number

Postal code and City

Country

Place and date

Signature

Tectum Verlag
Lahn-Center
Biegenstr. 4
35037 Marburg

Contents

- 1 Cornelis Hulsmann
Introduction
- 2 Hānī Labīb
Discussions on Article II of the Constitution in Egypt need a calm approach
- 3 Fatma El-Zanaty and Muhammad al-Ghazālī
Opinion poll on the Egyptian Constitution, Constitutional Referendum and Article II
- 4 Jayson Casper
Comparing Muslim and Christian responses in the El-Zanaty Survey
- 5 Usāmah Salāmah
Article II of the Constitution: Amendment for Time
- 6 Jayson Casper
Roundtable discussions about Article II: Clerics, Media, and Civil Society
- 7 Cornelis Hulsmann
Example of misrepresentation of Article II in relation to Christians in Egypt
- 8 Patricia Prentice
Article II of the Egyptian Constitution; background and contrasting opinions
- 9 Nushin Atmaca
Article II in the Debate about Constitutional Amendments in 2007
- 10 Cornelis Hulsmann
Nabil Ahmed Hilmy: a liberal scholar advocating amending Article II